CITY EMPLOYEES CHANGE IS CERTAIN ASK FURLOUGH IN GREAT BRITAIN

Men Who Work Twelve Hours Every Day Want Ten Days' Leave.

Constitutional Revolution Appears to Be an Accomplished Fact.

All employees of the Gas Department of the city of Richmond working twelve hours a day every day in the year, will, if the ordinance recommended to the Council for adoption by the Light Committee at a meeting held in the City Hall last night, receive a day's furlough each year without being docked therefor. It was pointed out that in some of the departments of the Gas Works the men work continuously, never having a day off unless compelled to lose time through sickness. At first the committee members labored under the misapprehension that the ordinance was framed for the benefit of some few men who had made the request, but this idea was quickly dissipated when it was shown that all of the employees working under the conditions named were included in the order.

London, July 21.—The constitutional revolution to-night appears to be an accomplished fact. Great Britain in the future will be governed practically by the House of Commons, with its hereditary upper house possessing only a veto, with a time limit of two years. The Peers and their one gleam of hope in the prediction that the next conservative government will overthrow Asquith's revolution and restore the old conditions, but the Radicals are confident that in such matters the hands of the clock will never turn backward.

TO LEAVE SUNDAY

The men are instructed to report at the army Sunday morning at 4 o'clock.

NOT SERIOUSLY ILL

Alarming Reports About Dr. Johnston Discredited Here.

News was received in Richmond yesterday stating that Dr. George Ben Johnston, one of the most prominent surgeons in the South, was critically ill at his summer home in Rock Castle. The alarm caused by the report proved groundless. Dr. A. Murat Willis said last night that he was summoned to Rock Castle Thursday by Mrs. Johnston. He found Dr. Johnston to be suffering from pneumonia, but his condition was by no means serious. Dr. Willis returned home at once.

GEE CASE GOES UP

Railroad Detective Will Be Tried in the Hustings Court.

Detective George B. Gee, of the Seaboard Air Line Railway, charged with the murder of Emmett White, colored, waived examination in the Police Court yesterday morning, and the case was certified to the Hustings Court. Gee is being held in the city jail on a $2,500 bond, with E. B. Williams as security. The case of George Saunders, colored, which it is alleged, was responsible for the shooting of White, will be heard this morning. Saunders is charged with the theft of half-pint of whiskey from a car of the Atlantic Coast line.

MONTICELLO HALL FULL OF TUMBLERS

Bears Eloquent Testimony to the Wisdom of Inspector Beck.

Monticello Hall itself bore testimony to the wisdom of the Building Inspector yesterday morning, when, at almost the first tap of the workmen, the chimney on the eastern party wall fell, carrying with it to the ground all the floors on that side. One man on top of the building made his escape by jumping to an adjoining roof, while a number of those on the ground floor had but a few seconds to save their lives by running out of the open doors. The foreman said that several doubtless would have been killed had the doors been closed.

As usual, it was proposed to pull the building down by starting at the top, but as the work began on the chimney, it gave way near the bottom and fell down in chunks and was practically demolished last night, though it will take a long time to remove the debris as it is now piled up. The men, too, have to work with the greatest caution in order to escape injury.

Work is also in progress at 222 West Broad Street, the property of J. J. Pollard; 110 West Broad Street, belonging to M. L. Horheimer, and on the row of frame dwellings, 9, 11, 13, 15, 17 South Seventh Street, owned by H. E. Wallstein. All of these buildings have been recently condemned by the Building Inspector and ordered down.

The buildings, 606-608 West Broad Street, owned by Louis Corti and William Krug, were condemned yesterday morning. The houses are of wood and roofed with shingles. The tenants have been ordered out of the buildings and the Inspector's orders without protest.

Must Divide Property.
A decree was entered in the Law and Equity Court yesterday in the suit of Annie M. Epps against A. H. McDowell, ordering the division of $10,000 among the heirs of the late Mrs. Josephine P. McDowell. The suit is the proceeds of the sale of property.

Suits were brought by Ida M. Wyatt against John M. and Leonard Amheim for damages of $1,000, and L. C. Canacke against the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad for $500. No declarations were filed.

Building Permits.
The following permits were issued in the office of Building Inspector Beck yesterday:

Samuel Bachrach, to repair two brick dwellings, 11 and 13 North Twenty-third Street, $200.

R. Pollard Carleza, to install elevator in Nos. 7 and 9 West Broad Street, $2,000.

W. H. Richardson, to add one story to the two-story brick building, 2613 Hanover Avenue, $500.

King J. McKing Company, to rebuild and add on story to the building on the east side of Fifteenth Street, between Cary and Dock Streets, $12,000.

FOURTEEN CONVERTS BAPTIZED.
Thousands of Persons Witness "Gift of Tongues" Ceremony.

Pittsburg, July 21.—Fourteen persons, half of them women, were baptized during the Pentecostal Convention of the "Gift of Tongues" sect, held at Hemstead Park, River, yesterday. In the Monongahela River, thousands of persons were watching the ceremony. In the river, a number of persons were accidentally pushed into the river, and the crowd cheered.

The public bathing pool in the river was used for the services. The "Gift of Tongues" delegates from all parts of the United States and Canada marched in the river, shouting and singing, with the four converts in the lead. At the river banks the Rev. Flood, of Pittsburgh, and James Hebdon, of Toronto, Canada, took charge. The converts, chattering incessantly, which was said to be the "gift of tongues," taken waist deep into the river. The convention will close Sunday.

SIMON IS LIKELY TO FOLLOW DIAZ

Washington, July 21.—President Simon, of Haiti, appears doomed to follow President Diaz, of Mexico, and to give way to a new revolutionary government, according to advices reaching Washington.

In the opinion of Captain Dismukes, of the United States Army, which is at Port-au-Prince, after watching the operations of the revolutionists already mentioned, the revolutionists are all of the towns of importance, except the capital are in their possession.

President Simon has been obliged to swallow his campaign in the North, and to withdraw his army to the capital, where he arrived yesterday. He is now confined to his sick man, and is now confined to his bed. Captain Dismukes reported to-day that the revolutionists were now marching toward the capital from Mare, which they captured without much resistance.

Captain Dismukes reports that the interests of Americans at Gonaives are not endangered by the revolutionary occupation of the city, where the population appears to be in full sympathy with the movement.

No Wage Scale Conclusion.
Representatives of international unions were in conference with J. F. Walsh, general superintendent of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company yesterday, but reached no conclusion as to the wage scale proposition. The conference will be continued to-day, though it is not expected that a settlement will be reached for several days yet.

Assaulted With Chair.
Rufus Patterson, colored, was arrested last night on the charge of assaulting James Rouse with a chair. Rouse had a big skin cut on his head, in which Dr. Hulcher, of the ambulance, had to take several stitches.

Patterson, who was brought to the station along with the injured man, said that he was driven to fight because Rouse threw a lighted lamp at him and attempted to injure him otherwise.

Had Too Much Excitement.
Mary Green, colored, got religion at the mission house near the corner of Adams and Canal Streets last night, and in her ecstasy threw her hand into the glass of a book-case, cutting her wrist severely. She was treated by Dr. Hulcher, of the ambulance, and sent home.

White Dean got in a fight with a man he did not know. He was hit with a fence rail and badly cut. The wound was treated by Dr. Hulcher, and the patient carried to the City Jail.

VICTIM OF STRANGE DISEASE.
Mrs. Bertha Frank Described as a Somnambulist Kleptomaniac.

Chicago, July 21.—Mrs. Bertha Frank was described by her husband, Jacob Frank, as a somnambulist kleptomaniac in the Municipal Court yesterday.

He testified that his wife, while walking in her sleep, not only searched his trouser pockets and extracted small change, but frequently made nocturnal visits to neighbors' homes, and rifled the pockets of sleeping occupants.

She was arrested last night while pilfering the trousers pockets of John Kelder. Other neighbors told to-day of losing small change while they slept.

The woman said she had no recollection of the matter, but admitted that she often walked in her sleep.

The woman will be examined by a physician.

SUPREME COURT ALLOWS APPEAL

Question of Insurance Policy Must Be Determined by Facts.

The Virginia Supreme Court yesterday allowed an appeal in the case of Firemen's Relief Association, of Richmond, against Ella Hendricks and others, upon petitions filed by Lella E. Pettus and C. L. Howard. This is appeal from a decree of the Chancery Court of Richmond.

The suit is a contest over the disposition of a $1,000 policy held by C. A. Burbank, who was a fireman in the employ of the city until the time of his death. In his policy he named as beneficiary Ella Hendricks, a first cousin. After his death Mrs. Pettus, with whom he boarded, announced that she was engaged to be married to Burbank and claimed the money. The minutes of the board of control of the association showed that Burbank had made application to have the name of the beneficiary changed in order to leave his money to Mrs. Pettus.

The court below held that the money should be distributed among Burbank's legal heirs and the costs of court and attorney's fee should be paid from the $1,000.

IN POLICE COURT

Montgomery, Fined for Speeding, Taken on Appeal.

C. G. Montgomery was fined $50 in the Police Court yesterday morning for running a motor car 23 faster than allowed by ordinance. Montgomery said that his machine was not capable of the speed he was said to have gone, but Police Judge Naylor, who made the report, testified that the car was going between twenty and twenty-five miles an hour. The case was appealed.

Percy Carter, arrested Saturday a few days ago and returned to this city by Detective Sergeant Wiley on Thursday on the charge of criminal assault on Miss Nellie Miller, had his case continued to next Thursday.

James Wiley, James Williams and Daniel Allen, colored, were fined $10 each for cruelly overdriving a pair of mules.

RULING UPHELD

Worth Company Must Get Out License to Conduct Business.

The decision of Police Justice Clutchfield was upheld in the Hustings Court yesterday morning in the case of D. W. H. Richardson, manager for the Worth Electric Vehicle Company. Richardson was fined $10 for not getting out a license to conduct an automobile business.

Richardson's counsel moved that the verdict be set aside as contrary to law and evidence. The motion will be argued later.

The case involves the question as to whether or not the individual representative of the company shall take out a license. It probably will be taken to the Court of Appeals for final settlement.

The lower court also was sustained in the case of J. P. Epps, who was fined $10 by Justice Clutchfield for driving a horse with a sore shoulder.

FLIES IN TAILLESS BIPLANE.

Frank Boland Provides Thrills at Garden City.

Garden City, July 21.—Frank Boland, of Paterson, N. J., with a tailless biplane, gave the aviation colony on the Hamstead Plains Wednesday evening some thrills in the way of flying. With small balloons to balance his biplane, Boland started off across the field grass cutting, and then suddenly shot up in the air about fifty feet.

He flew about a mile, and during this time more gymnastic events were seen in the air than have ever occurred at Mineola before. Up and down, side ways and all other ways, like an excited bat, went the biplane with the plucky aviator keeping the machine in control.

Miss Blanche Scott, in the Biltmore metal, biplane, made several mile flights and turns with success.

Expect Governor To-Day.

Governor Mann is expected to return to Richmond to-day from Manassas, where he went yesterday to participate in the jubilee and celebration of the battle of Bull Run.

Richmond, Ind., July 21.—After a search of several weeks, Peter P. Apkins, aged thirty-three, was arrested here yesterday, charged with being a bigamist, forger and robber. His operations, according to the local police department, have extended over the Eastern and Middle Western sections of the United States. Last May Apkins was married to a widow, a Mrs. Bertha Coler, in this city, and it is said he deserted her two days later in Paris, Ill. He then went to Nicholasville, Ky., and was soon married to Miss Elizabeth Young in Lexington, Ky., the police assert. The couple went to Cincinnati and the first night Apkins, it is alleged, drugged and robbed his new wife of $200 and jewelry.

From Cincinnati Apkins went East, and it is alleged, operated in Hartford, Conn., Boston, and returning West, was heard from last Sunday in Chicago by his wife here, who gave the letter to the police. He was arrested as he stepped from the train to-day.

Apkins' suit case contained hundreds of love letters written by women all over the United States, and checks on more than sixty national banks of the country.

Held on Murder Charge.
William Kelly, colored, alias Coleman, was arrested in South Richmond yesterday morning for the murder of Sam Powell, in Lawrenceville, five years ago. Telegrams were immediately sent the Mayor of Lawrenceville, and yesterday afternoon a message was received from Sheriff Turnbull directing him to be held. Officers are expected here this morning to carry him back to Lawrenceville for trial.

GANS-RADY COMPANY

WEARY "BLUES" RETURN TO CAMP

Spend Night at Red Hill and Make Morning March to Basic.

RESULTS PLEASE OFFICERS

Captain McDowell Thrown From Horse Four Times, but Not Badly Injured.

BY A. R. W. MACKRETH.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Camp William Richardson, via Basic City, Va., July 21.—Singing "Hail, Hail, Barda All Here," the Blues Battalion returned to Camp William Richardson at 10:30 o'clock this morning, after a six-mile march from Red Hill, where the battalion camped last night. The men were hot and tired, perspiration oozed from every pore, and up the hill to the camp their weary feet dragged a little, but they were in cheerful spirits, and when dinner came, an hour and a half later, every man was present.

The return march was under a broiling sun, and the sandy roads were hot and blistering. But there were no stragglers.

The home guard and the "sick" squad turned out to greet them, and another bugler rang out what was meant to be inspiring strains. The sight of Camp William Richardson was inspiring enough, and soon every man was in his tent unloading himself of his heavy equipment, and divesting himself of his perspiration-soaked clothes.

Thereafter came a shower of clean linen, and all were as fit as fiddlers.

Six-Mile March.
The march last night was straight forward to Red Hill, on the Red River, six miles distant, where an ideal spot on the slope of a hill was selected as a camp site. The battalion reached Red Hill at 5 o'clock. In ten minutes the shelter tents had been pitched, and in another five minutes the fires were blazing in front of every tent. Each man was his own cook, making his meal on bacon, beans, bread and coffee. Mess call sounded at 6:30 o'clock, and the men ate like hungry soldiers they were.

Afterwards, by the light of the innumerable twinkling stars, the men sat about and sang and listened to an impromptu concert given by the band. Nearby villagers and country folks came to look on and listen, and marveled that so many men could live with but a single woman in sight and still be happy. Taps were sounded promptly at 10 o'clock, and in five minutes only the sentinels were awake. Silence settled down from the dark hills, and nature's tired children fell asleep.

Early Morning Start.
Reveille was sounded at 5:30 this morning, consisting of scrambled eggs, bread and coffee, came at 6, and at 7 o'clock stakes were pulled and the start home was made. Here came the difficult part of the march. Company A was thrown out as the advance guard. Companies B and C were the main body, and Company A was the rear guard. Skirmishers were thrown out from the advance guard to do outpost duty. The skirmishers had to travel through all kinds of difficult country, over the hills for many miles, and report back to the advance guard, which in return reported to the main body. This work was continued until the main camp was sighted.

Captain R. S. Knox, U. S. A., who accompanied the battalion on its hike and put it through the pace, was vitally pleased with results, and Major Bowles was delighted, and said so.

Captain Knox was particularly impressed with the rapidity with which the men pitched their tents and prepared for the march.

Three miles from camp the escort wagon, which usually follows in the rear, was sent on ahead, preceded by Sergeant W. T. Hoppe mounted.

Thrown From Horse.
On the way over Captain McDowell was thrown four times from his untractable horse, but was not hurt beyond being bruised and shaken up.

The home guard and "sick" squad had little to do last night beyond patrolling their posts and company streets. The watch was so good that none of the men had long to remain out with the stars.

When it came time for Corporal John Werth, of Company D, to report for guard duty, Corporal Houston, then going off, couldn't awaken the former slumbering soldier on account of his bull-baiting "Sergeant Toddy," "Sergeant Toddy," when the detail came front of his master's tent, took a position over his body, and showed his teeth. The detail tried endearing words, such as "come pups," and bread and bones. But pups wouldn't come, and he appeared not to be hungry. They shouted for half an hour, but the corporal slept on. At last they summoned Sergeant Toddy's best friend, and he managed to persuade the four-footed officer that no harm was meant, and Corporal Werth went on duty.

Citizens Are Guests.
Returning the compliments contained in the citizens' letter, received at headquarters yesterday, the Blues to-night made themselves the hosts of Basic City and Waynesboro. From one end of the camp to the other, the place was illuminated with the four-footed lanterns, which were strung across the company and the band streets, from the officers' tents and around headquarters, forming at once a remarkable and beautiful scene.

Wardens were added to the general scene by the parade of the baby battalion, the kinship of the pajamas and the sanitation squads. Lieutenant James McGraw, of Company C, popularly stated "Mugsy," was commander-in-chief, and Elliott acted as adjutant, issuing orders for assembly and parading from new headquarters, temporarily arranged in the mess hall.

Walsh, Company D, dressed in a suit of pajamas and carrying a lantern instead of a baton, the band first serenaded the camp with wild airs that seemed appropriate to the carnival of fun. Each squad, led by the baby battalion, all dressed in white flowing gowns and all manner of headgear, paraded down each company street, and then passed in review before Major Bowles.

Night of Pleasure.
After five days of strenuous work, the end of which is not yet, Major Bowles gave the night over to the men; and though they returned from a long "hike" in the morning, they made the most of their hours. There was never anything like it before in Basic, and may never be again, and so Basic will not soon forget to-night and their hosts, the Blues.

The camp was thrown open to the visitors, and it was curious to observe the interest which the women displayed in the manner and mode of life of the men. They were everywhere, listening to the explanations and chatted volubly. It was new to them, and perhaps they do not understand yet. The scene may not better be described than by liking it to a Saturday night at the State Fair, on a Saturday night, and the man who can describe that has not yet been born.

The sanitation squad under Sergeant James H. Drake, Jr., shouldered their pick axes and shovels, and with Cecil Stevens as color-bearer, paraded before the band. Soldiers turned into honest working men. In this squad were Lewis, Puss, Wed, Stevens, Kiff Edwards, Tanner, Epps, Worham, Sweeney and others.

A special stand was made for Major Bowles, and he watched the parade and listened to the fun and sweet noise, as though he were really composed of the following men: Powers, Lefebvre, Adjutant Leland, Sergeant Major Polent and Harvie, Company color-bearer—A. T. Smith, T. E. Atkins, W. R. T. Smith, E. A. Brown, A. J. Chevalier, T. D. Neal, E. C. Harrison, R. T. Smith, L. C. Morris, M. F. Neal, W. V. Crump, E. F. King, George B. Snead, T. A. Williams, Bradley Bolesseus and E. B. Allen, Sergeant William Hoppe.

The scene was amusing and everybody was happy and good natured. Shortly before 10 o'clock the visitors
